To whom it may concern;

In 2006 our firm entered into a working relationship with North Central Office Technologies. The decision to choose "NCO" was made after much research toward finding a business that could provide the best solutions to our photocopying and faxing needs. Since then our firm has obtained 3 new photocopier units and a fax machine that are maintained solely by "NCO".

I have found the entire team at North Central Office Technologies a pleasure to deal with. The sales team is very knowledgeable about the products available on the market. They listen to what our specific needs are and offer products to provide solutions. When the need arises to place a service call the NCO receptionist is always polite and helpful and the Technicians respond to our call the same day or within one business day.

Overall, I am very pleased with North Central Office Technologies and would not hesitate to recommend them.

Yours very truly,
